The Play & Display design gives the owner the ability to stylishly display one record cover and its contents on the wall. The unique design of the Flip Frame allows the owner to change over the display within seconds without having to remove the frame from the wall. All it takes is a simple one-finger touch that flips the front of the frame open so that the record can be changed.

The Play & Display Flip Frame was designed especially to compensate for any differences in thickness of album or 12" record. This is done by the unique "sponge finger" system on the back of the Flip Frame, which will ensure that any record can fit comfortably against the front display panel.

Available in neutral black and stunning white, Play & Display Flip Frames come fully assembled and packaged ready to use.
